By Ma Ying Yan, Angel4A

John and Sally's mum were ill yesterday. Mum had a fever. She took some medicine. After that, she took a rest in her bedroom. John took care of Sally.

They found some instant noodles in the kitchen but they didn't know how to cook. Sally felt hungry and disappointed.

John suggested eating out. When they were about to leave home, Sally could not tie her shoelaces by herself. John tied the shoelaces for her.

When they arrived at Jolly Fast Food Shop, they read the menu. There were a lot of food. It was yummy. Sally would like to have spaghetti with meat sauce. John would like to have a double cheese hamburger and chicken nuggets. They wanted to order iced tea as their drink.

Finally, they decided to order food at the fast food shop. They enjoy eating the food there. John was happy. Sally felt joyful because she was not hungry anymore.

An interview report

By Cheung Wing Han, Hanna 4A

I interviewed my Mum about her personal experience last Sunday. There were not any iPads in my mum's primary school. She needed to write down some notes. There were not any air-conditioners in her school. When they felt hot, they could only turn on the fans. There were some blackboards in her school. The teacher would ask them to come out and write down the answer. They enjoyed the lessons. There were only a few toilets in her school. They needed to line up and wait patiently when they needed to go to the toilet.

Nobody in her class played electronic games. They played Chinese chess with friends. They enjoyed the relaxing time so much. They were happy. My mum and her classmates always played hide-and-seek. They played together in the school playground during recess. Nobody in her class played computer games. It was because there were not any computers in school and also at their homes.

My mum could go to school by herself when she was in Primary Four. She could get dressed by herself too. She could study for her exam by herself. She didn't have an afterschool tutor because she didn't need a tutor. She was so clever. She worked hard and could get into University.

Subject: Christmas shopping in a department store

Hi Austin,

I can't wait to tell you what I saw yesterday. Christmas is coming. Mum and I went shopping in a department store. When we got to the department store, we saw a lot of Christmas gifts and toys. After I chose my gift, my mum and I went to the cashier's counter to pay for our gifts.

There were a lot of people. We lined up patiently in front of the cashier's counter. We saw a lady in the front with an expensive handbag. She opened her handbag and took out her purse. Then she was busy for packing her things. That time, we saw a man stealing the lady's mobile phone. I said what happened to my mum. Then my mum called the police.

After the police arrived at the department store, the man was scared of the police, so he gave the mobile phone back to the lady. The police took him to jail. The lady thanked me a lot.

I am happy to share with you. Write soon.

Yours,

Luke

A visit to Hong Kong Science Museum

By Chung Cing, Sophia 4A

Yesterday we had a class outing day. Miss Lee took us to the Hong Kong Science Museum because there was an exhibition about dinosaurs. We went there by school bus. We wanted to see and know more about dinosaurs. My classmates and I were so excited.

Before we entered the museum, Miss Lee told us the rules. We couldn't take photos and we couldn't touch the models there. We went inside the exhibition hall. John was interested in the dinosaur models. He tried to touch one of them. I shouted to him, 'stop! You can't touch it!' But he didn't listen to me. He still tried to touch it.

Suddenly, the dinosaur opened his mouth and roared loudly. We were scared. We thought Miss Lee would be angry. Pat told Miss Lee about all the things. Miss Lee told John that he shouldn't do it again.

After that, Miss Lee took us to visit another corner of the exhibition. We enjoyed it so much. I hope we can visit next time.

Suddenly, his cat got in the way and the cake dropped. Tom was triggered. His eyes were full of anger and tears. His mum comforted him and said, 'Don't worry, Tom. It is just a cake. I can make a new one.' The words opened up his heart as he said back, 'Okay.' His mum made a new cake. He's happy now because he got a new cake.

It was Tom's birthday yesterday. At 7 p.m., Tom's mum and dad were preparing the birthday party for Tom at their home. Mum prepared three cans of cola, some delicious potato chips, chicken wings and a huge, yummy strawberry cake for the party. Dad gave Tom a trendy robot as his birthday gift too!

Mum finally got the strawberry cake ready. It was delicious and they were extremely thrilled. Suddenly, Tom's naughty cat hopped onto the cake and it scared mum. As a result, mum dropped it on the table! They were all sad and disappointed.

Lastly, Dad decided to go to a restaurant to have a buffet dinner with Mum and Tom. They celebrated Tom's birthday there. Tom felt joyful because the food there was really delicious. They all felt happy again.
